DEDICATION

The class of 1959 proudly dedicates this yearbook, The '59 Hornet, to Miss Jones and Miss Milot whose efforts have been untiring. Words cannot express our appreciation for the various contributions which they have so willingly given our class.

APPRECIATION

Words cannot express our gratitude and sincere thanks to Mr. Payden for helping the class of 1959 produce such a fine yearbook.

The Staff

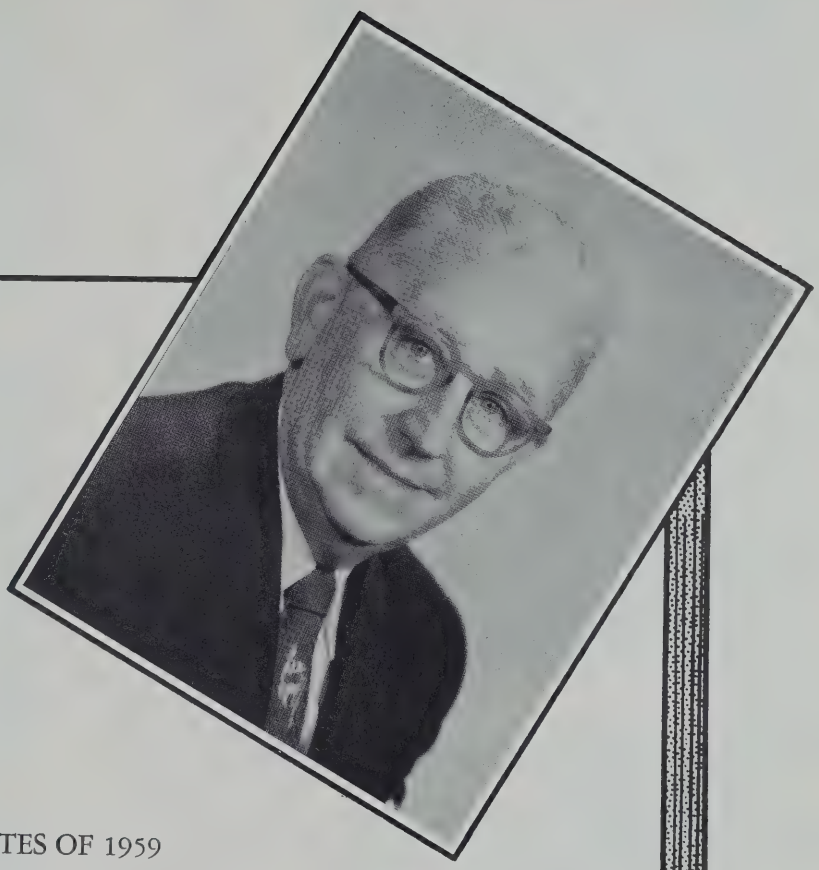
SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

Education is the salvation of the world. It may be likened to a raft or floating object which mankind must struggle toward to save the world from mass destruction by ruthless forces of self-annihilation.

The fruits of education are tremendous. Take advantage of your every educational opportunity, and obtain as much higher education as you can.

Theron B. Thompson

Theron B. Thompson
Superintendent of Schools



TO THE GRADUATES OF 1959

"Forget not my law, and let thy heart keep my commandments. For they shall add to thee length of days, and years of life and peace. Let not mercy and truth leave thee, put them about thy neck, and write them in the tables of thy heart, and thou shalt find grace and good understanding before God and men. Have confidence in the Lord with all thy heart, and lean not upon thy own prudence. In all thy ways think on Him, and He will direct thy steps."

Good Luck and God Bless You. Proverbs Chapter 3 1-6

National Honor Society

FIRST ROW: S. Bartlett, Treasurer; W. Thompson, Vice President; A. Day, President; M. Martin, Secretary; J. Garrett, M. Codding, J. Grozier, R. Uva, J. Kelley.

The National Honor Society was formed in Mansfield High School this year. The four principles of the society are: Leadership, Scholarship, Character, and Service. The above seniors were the first to be inducted by the members of the Foxboro chapter of the society. In the spring another induction was held and 10% of the Juniors and 5% of the Sophomores joined. We hope that in the years to come a great interest will still be shown in the society.

Highlights of The Class of 1959

by
Joan Grozier and Jane Kelley

SETTING: Auditorium stage, Mansfield High School, Graduation Night. Jane, Treasurer of the Class of 1959 for the past four years, leans over and speaks to Joan, class Secretary for four years.

JANE: The four years can't possibly be over!

JOAN: And it doesn't seem possible that a class could have so many trials and tribulations! Our history is anything but uneventful.

JANE: Remember our first Freshman class meeting? It had to be adjourned because no one could agree on the amount of class dues! We weren't very grown-up, were we? Although we thought we were at the time. I really sympathized with John Antosca that day. Being President of our class for four years has been a real job for John, but, aided by Anthony Sarro as Vice President while we were Freshmen and Tony Day for the last three years, he has given us real leadership. He was also fortunate to have Mr. DeCourcy and Miss Jones as class advisors.

JOAN: And remember too, when we were Freshmen, how all the girls had a crush on Mr. Sullivan. I bet the Freshman athletes were really jealous of their coach, because they were by-passed for Mr. Sullivan!

JANE: We were pretty apprehensive when it came time for our first dance—the "Revolutionary Ramble." The name itself should have driven everyone away! But to everyone's amazement it turned out to be a real success.

JOAN: Yes, we certainly have had some fantastic names for our dances: "Rock Around Sputnik" and "Cupid's Delight."

JANE: "Spring Frolic" was the name of our Sophomore dance. The dance and the selection of our class rings were the highlights of that year.

JOAN: When our Junior year came along, events came thick and fast. What do you recall most vividly out of that year?

JANE: Well, when Mr. Qualters became principal, he helped our class and the whole school a great deal, don't you think?

JOAN: Oh yes, and besides, look what he has done to change the attitude toward good marks. Now, everyone considers marks very important.

JANE: Then, I remember when John Antosca broke his leg in the football game with Franklin, and the class presented him with his class ring—I don't think anyone will forget that.

JOAN: I remember the long line outside his hospital room. No other patient could boast of so many visitors!

JANE: And what a time we had sorting out the sugar donuts for the class' donut sale. Gale Lutton was awarded free Senior dues because she sold—how many? Sixty-seven dozen!

JOAN: Our class had a clever and original idea of raising money that year too—selling stationery with a picture of Mansfield High School engraved on it!

JANE: The biggest social event of the Junior year was the Reception we gave the Seniors on June 13. Kit Sabin and Jeannine Bellavance, along with all the committees, certainly brought the "Sunny South" to the Don Currivan gym that night. You could almost smell the yellow roses!

JOAN: What would the class have done without Miss Milot to help us with everything!

JANE: Remember how Mr. Lemieux, when he informed the class that the National Merit Scholarship test was open to us, received an unexpected response? All but a few of the class took the test.

JOAN: The climax came when it was announced that Ward Thompson and John Garrett were among the finalists across the country. Everyone was so proud of them.

JANE: Speaking of John Garrett, do you remember when he was chosen from a large number of Massachusetts boys to attend a program at Thayer Academy to work in connection with the Synchro-cyclotron lab at Harvard?

JOAN: Yes, and I'll never forget the title of his thesis that he handed in after completing his work—"Problems Encountered in Redesigning the Polarized Protron Beam Regenerator Housing on the Harvard Synchro-cyclotron Laboratory to Accommodate a Neutron Beam!"

JANE: Also in our Junior year, John was chosen as the delegate to Boys' State, but since he was unable to go, Geoff Stearns attended as the alternate. Marilyn Codding had the honor of representing us at Girls' State, and you were the alternate.

JOAN: What stands out the most in our Senior year?

JANE: So many things happened that it's hard to pick out any one, but the first was when a chapter of the National Honor Society was inducted in Mansfield. It was a very impressive ceremony, and nine members of our class were tapped for membership.

JOAN: Don't forget that we have also had outstanding athletes as well as scholars. Tony Day, besides being the first President of the Mansfield High School National Honor Society, was a great asset to the football team. Imagine! Winning all those awards!

JANE: The Herald All-State Team; first team class "D" Bristol County, Most Outstanding Player of the 1958-59 Season; and outstanding player of the Thanksgiving Day game.

JOAN: And what a comeback John Antosca made this year as Captain and quarterback of the football team! His performance in basketball and baseball as well, proves he is certainly a "four letter" man.

JANE: Weren't we all happy when Geoff Stearns set a new scoring record in basketball—552 points—and led our team to the championship of the Class "C" Bay State Tournament.

JOAN: Then to top it all off, Goeff was picked as an all-star on the Second Team All-Eastern State Basketball, All-Star Hockomock Team and as a member of the All-Star Class "C" Bay State Tournament team. And his total points in three years of basketball were 1057!!

JANE: This was also a good year for the girls' field hockey team. With Rosalie Freeman representing the Seniors, the team was a match for all its opponents.

JOAN: Mary Lou Mei and you really contributed to the offense of the girls' basketball team! To think you beat Oliver Ames in overtime!

JANE: Also in connection with athletics, our class, with the help of the cheerleaders, held the Southeastern Massachusetts Cheerleaders' Tournament in the Don Currivan Gym—the first cheerleading competition ever to be held in Mansfield.

JOAN: Our cheerleaders did a great job that night as hostesses, and we were exceedingly proud of our cheering squad under Co-Captains, Geraldine Todesco and Judy Santucci.

JANE: The history of our class is certainly a record of achievements by our members. Our class play, "The "Show-Off," called for quite a bit of achievement! But, with everyone's help it went off very well, and we found that we had, among our number, actors as well as athletes and scholars!

Class Will

Written By
Jean Houghton and Geoffrey Stearns

We, the class of 1959, being of partially sound mind, and with complete disregard for legal procedure, bequeath, give up, force upon, and leave our fondest possessions to the members of society.

First and foremost, we leave to Mr. Thompson a book entitled "How To Teach The Faculty To Play Basketball."

Second, we leave to Mr. Qualters a soundproof office in which to entertain his delinquent students.

To the Juniors, we leave our congratulations since they are the first class of the sixth decade of the twentieth century. We also bequeath to them our best wishes for continued success.

To the Sophomores, we leave our 2000 yellow roses in the hope that they will put them to good use.

To the Freshmen, we leave our reassurance that their future three years of school will be anything but dull and will be most memorable.

And now for the distribution of possessions of the members of our class.

Edie Alferi leaves her ability to trap handsome boys to Celine Melchiorri.

Virginia Baldini leaves her long list of brokenhearted boys to Sandra Bravetti.

Bonnie Birman leaves her demure manner to that quiet Junior Rosemarie Ricci.

Jeannine "Jenny Fu" Bellavance leaves to confuse Confucius, and we believe she can do it.

Judy Bridges leaves her sewing skill to Mrs. Warnick who will put it to good use.

Joan Grozier bequeaths her great success to any underclassman that knows how to achieve it.

Nancy Carl leaves her favorite book entitled "How To Get Tall" to Dave Collingwood.

Mary "If-you-want-it, I've-got-it" Gordon leaves her supply of gum, candy, pencils, erasers, etc, to a good hearted sophomore.

John Antosca leaves his "Amigos," Ronnie Sankey and Dave Piasecki to Miss Milot's study hall.

Jimmy Mei leaves; he hopes.

Kent Pearce leaves his hints on how to argue at class meetings to Lenny "I can argue" Payden.

Mary Lou "Cousey" Mie leaves to join the Celtics.

Carl Weber leaves his job as "Jack of All Trades" to George Poor who already has enough of his own.

Donald "120 Detentions" Spence leaves saying, "I'm late, I'm late, I'm late."

Pat "Ho Ho" DesChamps leaves her Santa Claus suit to John Pardey who won't need the pillows.

John "Howdy partner" Garrett leaves his ten-gallon hat to anyone smart enough to fill it.

Billy "Bullets" Barton, otherwise known as BBB, leaves to create the world's fastest gun.

Tony Day leaves his gigantic lunches to next year's first lunch peroid, and we're quite sure there will be enough to go around.

Gale "I-can-swing-it" Lutton leaves her tennis equipment to anyone interested in a good "Racket."

John Reagan leaves his seat in Mr. Libertine's all-girl English class to Charles de la Feuilliez in hope that he will be able to concentrate.

Wanda Macomber leaves her lady-like manners to Tookie Mahoney.

Judy "happy-go-lucky" Dean leaves her merry ways to Chris Palanza who doesn't need any hints.

Richard Harwood leaves to get high; high in the sky we mean. (Aviator)

Joseph Neimi leaves his title of "Best Dressed" to Larry Jackson.

Marie Santucci leaves her cute expressions and her ability to talk her way out of anything to Rosalie Tartufo.

Geraldine "Do-you-drink-LaTorraine-Coffee" Todesco leaves her coffee and the early show to Suzie Palanza.

Jackie Crotty leaves her ability to win friends to Raye McLaughlin.

Jane Sheehan leaves her course on "How-to-break-things-in-one-easy-lesson" to Bruce Peterson.

Anthony "ooh-la-la" Sarro leaves his handsome and manly looks to Albert Inglese.

Ernie "Love-em-and-leave-em" Monterio leaves his fishing equipment to Rodney Stearns who may need to use his "Line."

Susan Bartlett leaves her basketball score card to Carol Witherspoon.

John Paioni leaves to continue his "fiddling" around.

George "Cockle doodle doo" Briggs leaves for Benson's Wild Animal Farm to serve as "Rooster Booster" of the year.

Jean Gulan leaves her mathematical ability to Bobby Santucci who always has been good at "figures."

Mary Ann "I-talk-by-the-bushel" Martin leaves 10 bushels of words to Patie "never-stop-talking" Bartlett.

Anita Pepin leaves her job as class play prompter to Donna Schromm. Here's hoping she can keep her place.

Mary Melfie leaves to sprout wings to join Pete Rogers in the Air Force.

Beattie Milliken leaves her pocket full of chemical explosives to that real "live wire" Leonard Tobey.

John "Go-man-go" Crescitelli leaves his jitterbug steps to next year's Arthur Murray.

Rosemary Uva leaves in hope that someone will save her a seat for next year's basketball season.

Jane Kelley leaves her ever changing hairdos to Andrea Carnie.

Steve Thompson leaves his nice clothes and dashing manners to Dougie Maxwell.

"Doctor" Nancy Prescott leaves her height to Wilma Albertini and Sally Kelleher to be divided equally between them.

"Serious" Sandra Shea leaves her pair of scissors to Kenny Picciandra who will undoubtedly be M.H.S.'s future cut-up.

"Frantic" Joan Peterson leaves her job of finding out "Who's Who" in the yearbook to that calm, cool, and collective Diane Liberatore.

Jimmy DePillo leaves before his electrical invention explodes.

Robert Marshall leaves, gratefully.

Genevieve "Babe" Goddard leaves her willingness to help others to Rene Young.

John Wills leaves his stink bombs to the "Mad Chemist" of 1960.

Lorraine Moorehouse leaves her place in the Home Ec. Class to any domestically inclined Junior.

Bernard "Benny" Bellavance leaves Chris to roam the corridors alone.

Tommy "I-am-the-greatest" Rorfido leaves his lead in the class play to next year's "Show-Off."

"Little" Andrew Clemmy leaves his position of center on the football team to "mighty" "Putt" Blandori.

Gail and Gwen Thibault leave to confuse the outside world.

Ronnie Harwood leaves to "sail the Seven Seas" with getting seasick. He's an old sailor at heart.

Joyce Santos leaves, taking away her nice smile and sweet personality to the regret of Mansfield High School.

Ralph "I can speak Spanish" Sarro leaves his quiet unassuming ways and his knowledge of Spanish to Pete DeGirolamo.

Peggy Claflin leaves her pretty blonde hair and her classroom behavior to William "I got a nose for trouble" Pelton.

Marilyn Codding leaves her job as Salutatorian to Juliana Kane who we hope will succeed.

Virginia Davis leaves her wonderful school spirit to any "North Easton" Fan.

Carol Hanlon leaves her great typing and shorthand speed to Kathleen Cruser who might be able to break her record.

Tony "Antan" Copparini leaves his funny personality and cute jokes to Gertrude Pazsit.

Carmen Bishop leaves her many helpful duties in student council to Barbie Donlan.

Judy Brackett leaves her never ending line of fashions to Carol Alessandri.

Judy Cahill leaves her classroom participation to Mr. Payden. He may need it next year.

Benny Tartaglia leaves his books on "Muscle Building" and his pass to the Y.M.C.A. to Jeffrey Cheyne.

June Hartin leaves saying, "It is better to be small and shine than to be large and cast a shadow."

Faith "me and my shadow" Christian happily leaves her job at Shriby's to anyone who can take it.

Barry Wood and Esther Terry leave behind their fond memories of M.H.S. even though their stay was short.

Class Prophecy

By John Garrett and Mary Ann Martin

The office phone rang, I answered it. A voice asked, "Is Mr. Garrett there?" I said, "No he is out at the moment." "But it is an emergency," pleaded the voice. "All right, I'll put him on."

After a short conversation, the boss came over to my desk and said, "Well, we've got our first case, and it looks like a tough one. An old classmate of ours, Joan Peterson, has done a disappearing act. That was her mother calling from Mansfield. Joan was supposed to come home for the weekend, but here it is Monday morning and she hasn't arrived yet. She has been rooming with a Miss Bellavance and a Miss Mei. I wonder if they are the same two girls that were in our class. Here's her address and a list of some of the people she knows. You check that out, but before you do, get me a ticket on the next train that stops at Mansfield."

Since my car was in the garage, I hailed a taxi. The driver turned out to be none other than Donald "Itchie" Spence. As we went flying through a red light and just missed crashing into the College Shop run by Mary Gordon, I found out that "Itchie" hadn't changed. After that experience, I vowed never to ride in his taxi again. At the rate he is going, I doubt if he will be giving many more rides.

The elevator operator at the Mount Hope Hotel was Ernie Monterio. He told me that when Joan left the apartment she seemed to be in an awful rush.

My knock on the apartment door was answered by June Hartin, the hotel manager. She was up visiting Jeannine Bellavance, who turned out to be an old friend of mine. I asked Jeannine if Joan had said anything to her about where she was going or if something had happened to frighten her. Jeannine told me that she thought Joan was going home for the weekend, but that two days ago while Joan was walking home from her job, as secretary to George Briggs, a well-known bookmaker (and I don't mean in the field of publishing), she saw a gangland beating and had recognized some of the men as associates of Mr. Briggs. When the men saw Joan, they fled.

As old friends do, we soon found ourselves talking about old times. Jeannine told me that she is now a practical nurse and that her brother Bernard and two other school chums, Ronnine Harwood and Tony Mederios, like the sea so much that they had decided to stay in the Navy. If you ask me, I think they like the Waves more than they do the sea. After talking for a while, I bid her goodbye and left to question Mary Lou Mei, who was running her own hairdressing salon.

As I walked to the salon, I stopped to look at a poster advertising "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" starring Jean Houghton, and rewritten especially for her by Andrew Clemmey. Down in the corner of the poster I noticed it said orchestra conducted by Maestro Jonathan Paioni. I remembered John's fondness for music and was very happy for his success. As I continued on my way, I saw Judy Bridges and Rosalie Freeman entering Sabin's House of Design, run by that world renowned designer, Kit Sabin. Judy is his assistant and Rosalie is his top model.

As I entered Mary Lou's salon, I noticed Peggy Calfin setting the hair of Marie Santucci, better know as the Countess la Moneybags. Marie has done well for herself by marrying one of France's wealthiest Counts. Talking to Mary Lou I found out that Joan had started to act strangely right after she saw the gangland beating. Joan had refused to talk about the incident for she feared she would be placing others in danger. I asked Mary Lou how her business was doing and she told me that she now has a branch salon in Boston run by another school chum, Carmen Bishop. Also attached to the chain is a reducing salon run by Genevieve Goddard, whose motto is, "That too solid flesh will melt!"

From there I went to Antan's Garage, run by Tony Copparini, to pick up my car. After getting the car I started to check out the hospitals to see if anyone fitting Joan's description had been admitted in the last seventy-two hours. I had no luck until I reached the last hospital on my list. I talked to the head nurse, Judy Cahill, who told me that a girl fitting my missing classmate's description had been admitted Sunday night. As the elevator was taking us to the third floor, Judy told me that Marilyn Codding has at last achieved her ambition of being a missionary in Africa. Marilyn's assistant in her program to help the underprivileged natives is Dr. Nancy Prescott.

On opening the door to the room I knew I had come to a dead end, for the girl lying on the bed was Gail Thibault. Gail came to the hospital to get away from it all and have a rest; the all being her two sets of twins. Visiting her was her sister Gwen, who has also done well for herself. She has a set of twins. As I left, I wished the girls lots of luck, believing they will need it in the future. As I walked to the elevator, Edith Alfieri went by wheeling a patient into the operating room.

Next, I headed for Pepin's Steak House run by that wonderful chef, Anita Pepin. I talked to Anita for a short time and then decided to watch the talking marathon on TV while I waited for my dinner. The show started with fifty contestants and was now down to only two, Virginia Baldini and Bonilyn Birman. I could understand why Virginia was on the program, for I remember she could always spin a pretty good tale, but Bonnie always seemed so quiet. People can surely change in ten years.

After dinner I decided to check the lead I received on the gangland fight and went to the police department. The Desk Sergeant, Jimmy DePillo, showed me into the office of Chief James Mei where his secretary, Mary Melfie, told me that he was talking to the Fire Commissioner, Kent Pearce, but would be with me in a few minutes. While I was waiting, I picked up a magazine which had an article on high school bands written by Beatrice Milliken, a former band member herself. When Chief Mei came out, he told me that since Friday they had already caught and jailed the men responsible for the beating. Another dead end!

As all my leads had ended with no clues at all, I returned to the office wondering if Mr. Garrett had had better luck than I.

While Mary Ann was checking out the leads in the city, I left the office to catch a train for Mansfield. As I walked by an out-of-town newsstand, I saw a week-old copy of the Mansfield News, which I bought. When the conductor on the train came by for my ticket, I recognized him as Lawrence Murphy, one of my former classmates. As we reminisced, I found myself wondering how many other members of the class of '59 I would run into on my job.

I started to read my paper with the fervent prayer that it would put me to sleep. Instead, the names in it brought back more memories. In the sports section were writeups on Gale Lutton, in Australia for the Davis Cup Matches, and Tony Day, who is playing for the Baltimore Colts. A feature article told how Richard Harwood had been chosen by the Air Force to be the first man sent to the moon. His only comment was, "I hope Russia has already sent a woman up there." Ward Thompson inventor of the rocket was selected to light the fuse.

I found a new feature in the old "News," a gossip column written by Jackie Crotty. This column told how pro wrestler, Benny Tartaglia, sits in the front row of Jean Houghton's play every night saying nice things about the star to his bodyguard, John Wills. It also told how Judy Brackett is in Europe looking for a real prince charming.

When I finally reached Mansfield, I decided to start my investigation with Mrs. Peterson, but she was so upset that she wasn't of much help. It looked as if I was going to have to do a little footwork. I decided to start by checking up and down Main Street to see if Joan had arrived at Mansfield.

First, though, I reported to the police. The only man on duty, juvenile officer, Normand Chartier, had heard nothing about Joan, but said the department would be willing to give me all the co-operation I needed.

I then went to Stearns News Store, figuring that any rumors would sooner or later be heard there. Just as I had suspected, there was Geoff out back reading a newspaper and chatting with his four high school helpers. I didn't find out anything about Joan, but I really got the dope on all the happenings at M.H.S. The girls whispered to me they were very unhappy with the few poor souls from the class of '59 who couldn't seem to team themselves away and had finally been given places on the faculty. It seems that Miss Rosemary Uva, now teaching typing, Miss Bartlett, could that be Susan Bartlett, now teaching romantic languages, whatever they are, (Here Geoff winked), and, that the dreamy coach, Mr. Antosca, is terrific. They also told me that Mr. Weber, the shop teacher, is really a terror, and that Judy Dean, also a classmate of ours, is now teaching the first grade.

Just down the street, I saw Christian's 5 and 10 cent store. Crossing over, I went in Johnny's Barber Shop, where Creseitelli was cutting hair and whistling "Anyone here seen Kelley." In the barber shop waiting while her son had his hair cut was Nancy Carl. I'd be willing to bet that she has the only 6'4" seven year old ever to be signed by the Celtics. Nancy told me that Virginia Davis an old friend of ours is now the librarian at North Easton. I recalled Virginia always had a fondness for North Easton. Leaving the shop, I was nearly trampled as about six little boys came tearing in followed by their haggard mothers, Pat Deschamps, Jane Sheehan and Sandra Shea.

I began to think that if she caught the train at all, maybe our missing person hadn't gotten off in Mansfield, but rode through to Boston. A quick check around South Station should tell me if that were true. So I went to the Marshall-Neimi Car Rental Agency where I rented a car for the drive to Boston.

Driving through town, I noticed many new businesses had been started in Mansfield. There were signs advertising the Thomas Porfido and Stephen Thompson Law Office, the Auction Shop, run by that world's champion auctioneer, David Southern, The Golden Age Home, Lorraine Moore-house proprietor, Escorts for All Occasions supplied by the Jean Gulan Escort Service, and the Barton Firearms Company, makers of the World Famous Barton Bullet. A little farther down the road, a poster announced the opening of a new stationery store owned by Joan Grozier. After Joan's years of experience at Stearn's, I'm sure her new business will be a success.

My trip to Boston turned out to be a waste of time. The girl at the ticket booth in South Station, Wanda Macomber, had no recollection of seeing Joan.

On my return to Mansfield, I went back to the Peterson's, where I had a room. I had hardly opened the front door when Mrs. Peterson came running in. The mystery was solved. She had just received a letter from Joan saying that she, Carol Hanlon and Joyce Santos had met on the train and decided to go to the Cape to spend the weekend.

I called the office to tell Mary Ann the good news about Joan and that I would stay in Mansfield until Wednesday visiting some of our classmates who, after ten years, were still living in Mansfield. Bob Dale and Barry Wood were just back after a long enlistment in the Army. John Delfino was coaching gymnastics at one of Boston's better known schools, and John "Masher" Reagan had become a TV wrestler. I also told my partner that I wanted to visit Gerry (Todesco), Anthony (Sarro), Judy (Santucci) and Ralph Sarro, Mansfield's leading citizens. As I way saying goodbye the telephone operator, Esther Terry, told me that I had talked over the three minute limit, and that I owed the telephone company $2.00.

When I returned to the office on Thursday, slightly hung over from my pleasant vacation, I found two grim Federal agents waiting with a warrant for my arrest. Somehow, I had forgotten to pay my income tax. Must've just slipped my mind. When I tried to explain, I was told that anything I said might be used against me, which all goes to show that "Crime doesn't pay."

Ho Hum!

"The Show-Off"

The Class of 1959 proudly presented its class play, "The Show-off" (by George Kelly, on Friday, November 21, 1958, in the high school auditorium. The play, which was directed by Mr. Elmer Michaelson, was centered around Aubrey Piper, a whimsical character with happy-go-lucky mannerisms. Aubrey had a natural knack for bragging, thus getting him into a peck of trouble. All in all, the play was a huge success, both financially and socially.

After the presentation of the play, the majority of the Senior Class ventured to the Legion Hall on Fruit Street for dancing and refreshments that were prepared beforehand by a group of Senior girls.

This year the Student Council has made great strides in bettering relationships between faculty, teachers and students. Besides these duties, they have attended all school functions, had a very successful food sale, all of which enlarged their treasury. They are now attempting a school store which they hope will prove worthwhile.

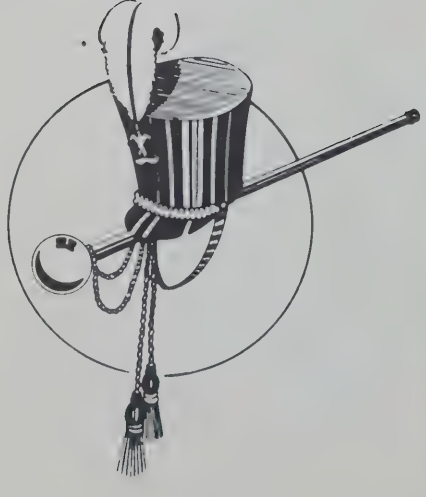
CLUBS

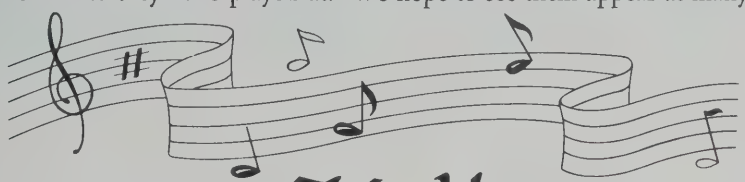
The Mansfield Hornet Band

High Steppers

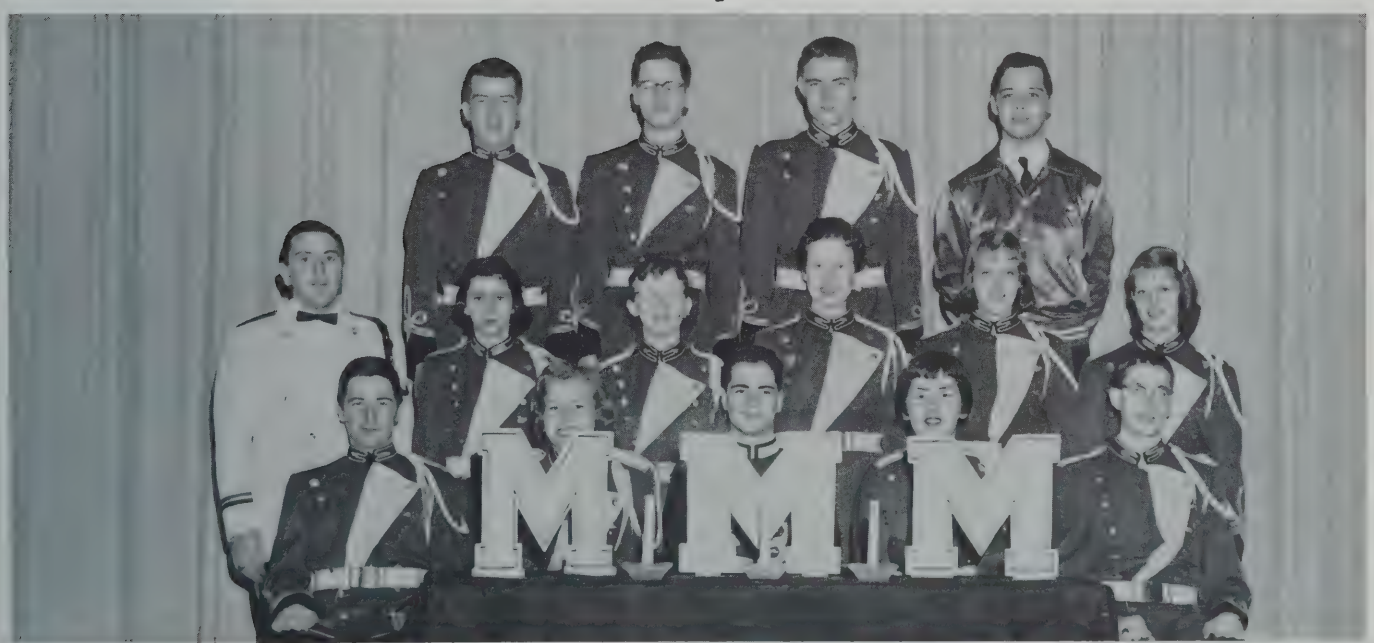


Dance Band

The members of the dance band have proven to be outstanding. We should be proud of their success. Their music has been enjoyed by all at the dances they have played at. We hope to see them appear at many school dances in the future.



Tri-M



FIRST ROW: H. Davis, D. Stewart, W. Upper, B. Milliken, J. Garrett. SECOND ROW: Mr. Gallo, M. Lemieux, B. Kuzdzol, R. Thompson, D. Dleary, D. Cleary. THIRD ROW: D. Blackford, W. Bond, W. Thompson, G. Poor.

Modern Music Masters, is a fairly new school organization. Its purpose is to further and promote music activities in the community. As time progresses, the unit will certainly become well-known throughout the area.

Girls' Choral Group and Boys' Chorus

FIRST ROW: J. Piasecki, C. Bishop, C. Witherspoon, K. Dauphinee, J. Phillips, B. Balch, C. Allesandri. ROW TWO: L. Payden, R. Harwood, C. Sabin, R. Bolin, B. Bellavance, S. Thompson, T. Porfido.

Girls' Choral Group

This group of girls is composed of seven girls who have worked hard and have come up with harmonious singing. They have already appeared in the Christmas assembly in 1958 and will appear in other assemblies and in the Spring Festival.

The Boys' Chorus

This small group of boys has shown a strong enthusiasm for music in the form of entertaining recreation. Their first appearance this year was in the Christmas assembly. During this assembly, they were enthusiastically received by the students and faculty.

Tatler

FIRST ROW: N. Brown, P. Bartlett, N. Tessier, C. Chartier, K. Santucci. SECOND ROW: Mr. Libertine, C. Hanlon, J. Cotterill, B. Balch, G. Pazit, M. Whooley. THIRD ROW: B. Dunne, P. Gulan, E. Fales, J. Fitzsimmons.

The majority of the Tatler are Freshmen and Sophomores who have spent a lot of time on journalism rather than actual production, in hopes of putting out a better paper in the future.

Cafeteria Workers

ROW ONE: K. Mei, W. Lawton, J. Faria, S. Paioni, R. Cameron, E. Maxwell, M. Briggs, E. Fisher, K. Smith. ROW TWO: Mrs. Farinella, Mrs. York, Mrs. Annese, R. Jordan, J. Atherton, C. Pelton, V. Phillips.

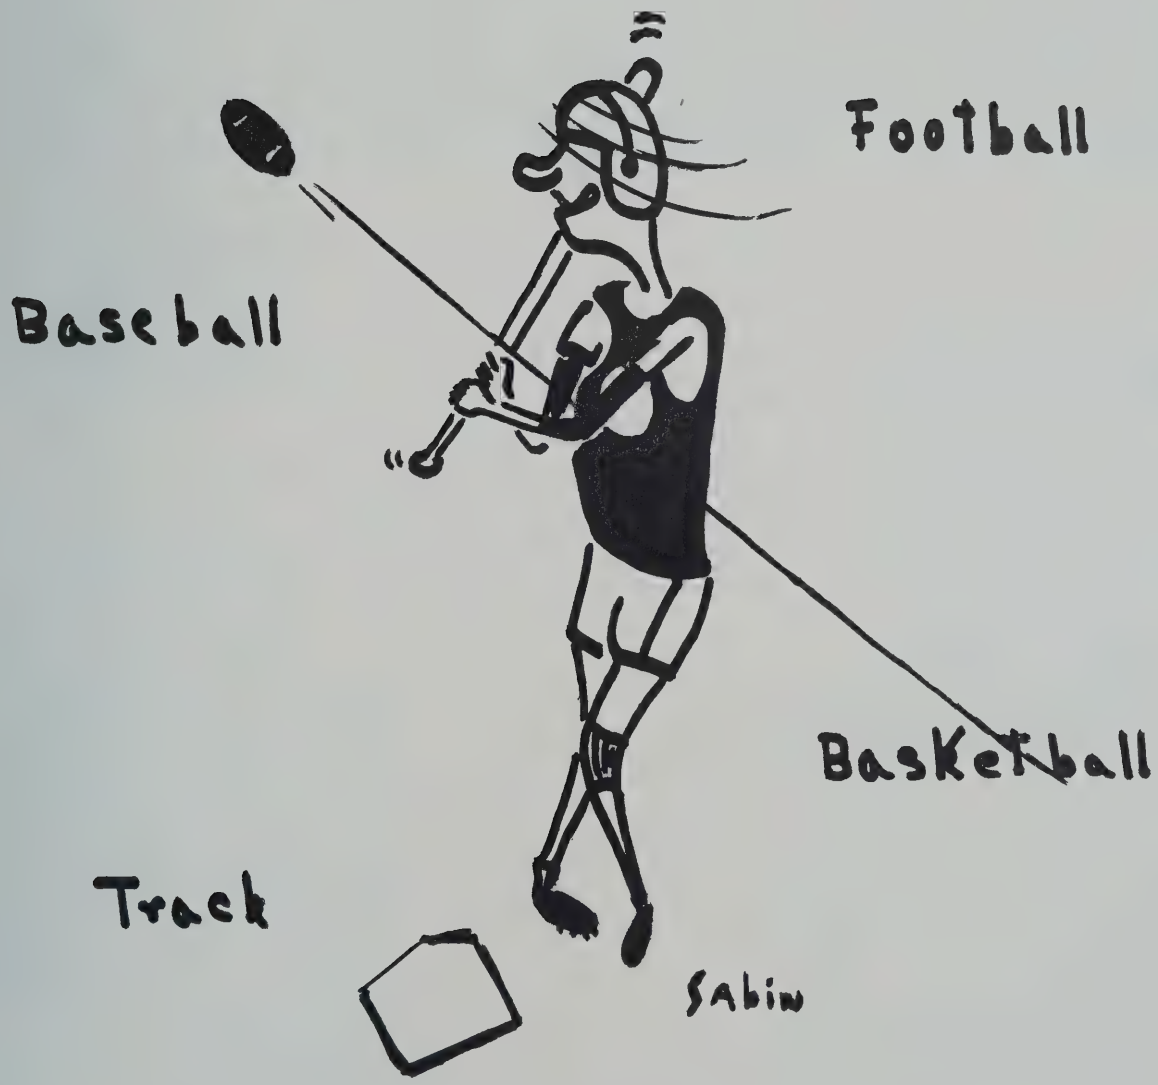
This year, the Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Shaheen, has shown evidence of hard work in their outstanding public appearances at our school assemblies. They are now preparing for a Spring Festival based on Show Music with a French background.

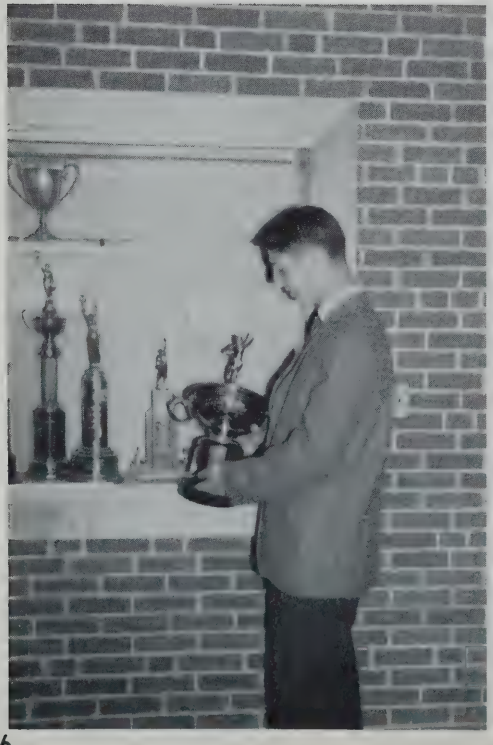
SPORTS

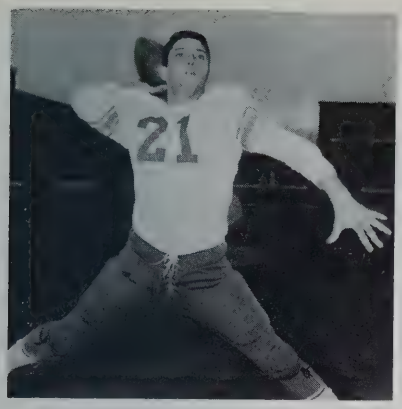


Hornets

The 1958 Green Hornet Football team, although hampered by the lack of experience and speed, fought hard in every game and earned themselves a commendable 6-3 record. The Hornets had only three linemen back from last year's squad, including Geoff Stearns, Ralph Sarro, and Tony Day. But, due to the return of John Antosca, who missed the '57 campaign because of a broken leg, and some fine work by Anthony Sarro, Andy Clemmey, and Bernard Bellavance, the Hornets jelled into a fine unit. Although the Hornets lost important games to Somerset, Oliver Ames, and North Attleboro, they improved with each game and climaxed the season with a tough and hard-fought 6-0 victory over Foxboro on Thanksgiving Day.

We can credit this fine season to the Hornet's tough defensive unit, which was built around 240 pound Andy Clemmey. It held the opposition to an average of merely eight points per game. Also a potent offensive attack, which produced an eighteen point average per game, kept the opposition plenty busy! All in all the season was a tremendous success.





JOHN ANTOSCA

JOHN ANTOSCA, the captain of the 1958 Green Hornet Football team, made a great recovery from the leg injury he sustained the year before. John was not only a fine field-general and leader, but also was one of the best passing quarterbacks ever to graduate from M.H.S. John will always be remembered for his never-ending drive to fight and win.

TONY DAY

TONY DAY, an All-Scholastic tackle, emerged this year as undoubtedly the greatest lineman ever to wear the green and white uniform. On defense, Tony was in nine out of ten tackles and on defense, Tony opened gaping holes for the backfield. Tony was the "spark" of our team and will never be forgotten.

RALPH SARRO

RALPH SARRO, our burly right guard, proved time and time again his effectiveness for throwing key blocks on end-around "long-gainers." On defense Ralph held down the right end slot, doing a bang-up job. Ralph was also a spark for the 1958 Green Hornets.

DREW CLEMMEY

DREW CLEMMEY, our 240 pound defensive stalwart, was most effective when the opposition tried the middle of the line. Andy was hard to budge and occupied a lot of space on the front wall. Certainly Andy was a big factor in the success of the defensive unit of the Hornets.

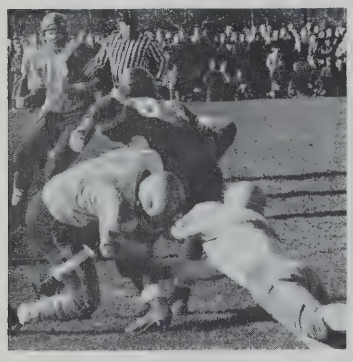
ANTHONY SARRO

ANTHONY SARRO, came into his own in his senior year, and developed into an overpowering and high-scoring fullback. Anthony had a knack of reeling off long runs, and when those precious yards were needed, Anthony usually came through. He was also chosen a member of the All-Bristol County Team.

GEOFF STEARNS

GEOFF STEARNS, our awesome left tackle, played an important part both offensively and defensively. He was responsible for opening many holes to let our runners score and with his powerful blocks and tackles, he thwarted the opposition time and time again. Geoff was also a member of the All-Bristol County Team.

SOMERSET—Mansfield lost its opening game against a strong Somerset team (14-0). The Hornets were spunky but the breaks were going the opposite way. The absence of John Antosca, who sat out the contest because of a pulled ligament, destroyed any hope of victory for the Hornets.



FRANKLIN—Bounding back from the week before, the Hornets overwhelmed Franklin (30-0) by using a relentless ground attack. The drive was sparked by the charging Mansfield forward wall led by Tony Day and Geoff Stearns.

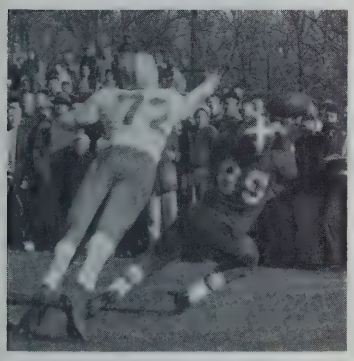
OLIVER AMES—The following week, the Hornets journeyed to North Easton to take on a powerful Oliver Ames team. Mansfield couldn't get started for the first three quarters, but finally exploded, being sparked by the offensive blocking of Ralph Sarro, Tony Day, and Geoff Starns. In the waning seconds, the Hornets scored, making the score (14-12) but the attempt for the extra point failed.

CANTON—After Canton staged a final lethal drive, the Hornets surged to a (22-20) victory. The defensive unit starred during the game, being sparked by Andy Clemmey and Tony Day. Canton displayed an explosive offensive team. The Hornets were glad when the final whistle blew and when the game ended in our favor.

DARTMOUTH—The Hornets, although they had two touchdowns nullified, stubbornly bounced back in the second half to nip Dartmouth (14-12) on the drizzly Homecoming Day. Certainly, the Hornet defensive wall, led by Tony Day, Geoff Stearns, Ralph Sarro, and Andy Clemmey, deserved a pat on the back.

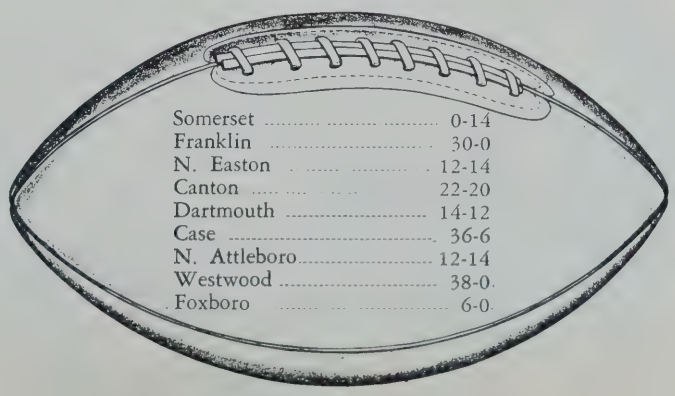
CASE—The dazzling array of passes thrown by Quarterback John Antosca and the hard-running of Tony Sarro led the Hornets to a (36-6) rout of Case High of Swansea. Case was slow both offensively and defensively and the Hornets took advantage of this factor by romping on to a somewhat easy victory.

NORTH ATTLEBORO—With the exception of two quick North touchdowns, the play was completely dominated by the hard fighting Hornets. The entire forward wall of Mansfield deserved credit for the fine game they played. The wall included Andy Clemmey, Tony Day, Geoff Stearns, Tony Sarro, and Ralph Sarro. John Antosca almost pulled out the game for the Hornets by his superb passing but the final score showed North Attleboro 14—Mansfield 12.



WESTWOOD—Sparked by a three-touchdown performance of fullback Anthony Sarro, the Hornets thoroughly subdued a helpless Westwood team (38-0). Wally Gordon and John Antosca also highlighted the game when they turned Westwood passes into Hornet scores.

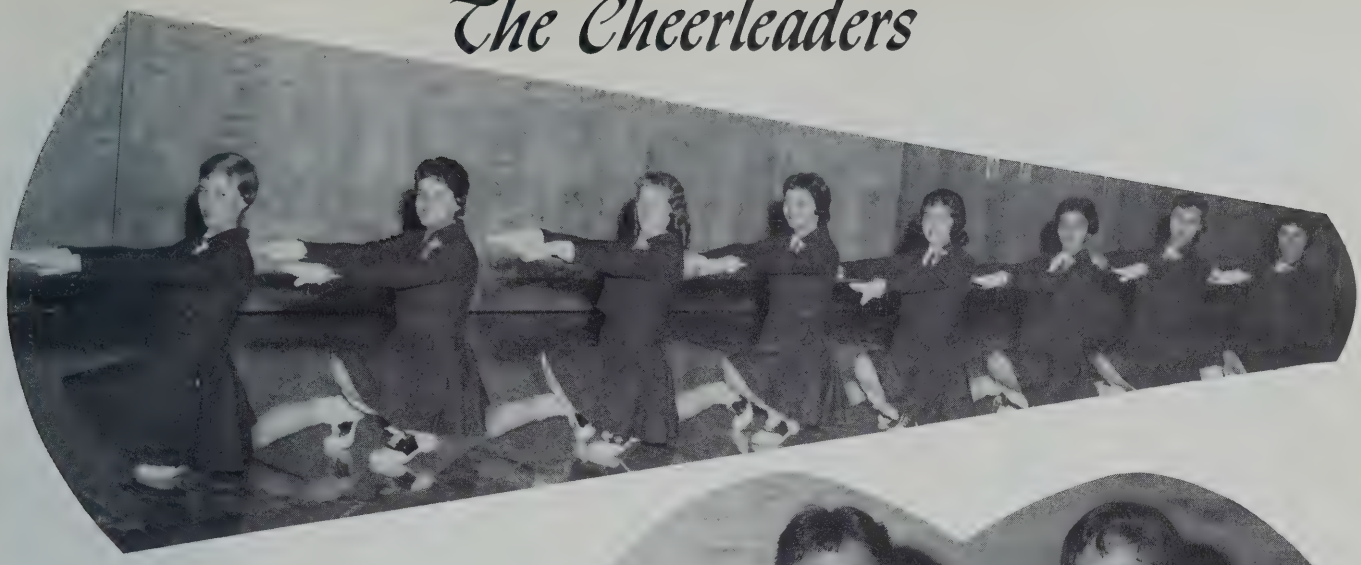
FOXBORO—This was the final game for the seniors and each one played brilliantly. Foxboro displayed more drive and determination than in recent years. Therefore, the Hornets deserve a great deal of credit for winning this game (6-0). This exciting game climaxed a fine season for the Hornets, giving them an overall record of six wins and three losses.

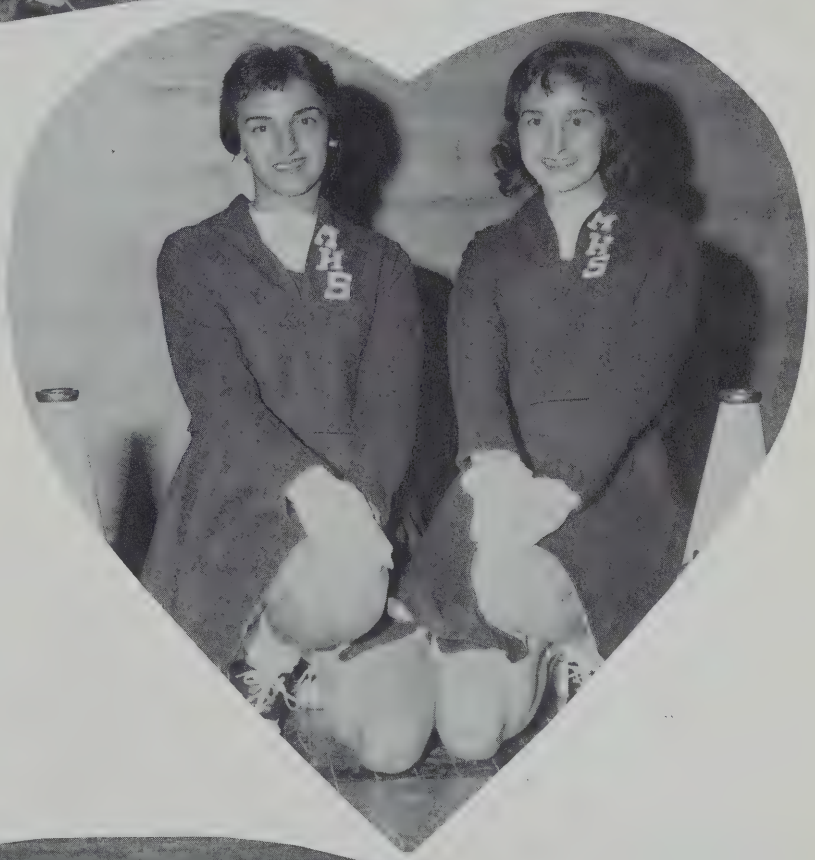


Versatile Seniors

The Mansfield High School Cheerleaders this year included Marie Santucci, Jean Houghton, Barb Donlan, Co-Captains Judy Santucci, and Jerry Todesco, Christ Palanza, Tessie Antosca, and Sandra Ferrara.

The Cheerleaders





The vigorous Cheerleaders of Mansfield High School, led by the spirited Co-Captains, J. Santucci and J. Todesco, cheered our Hornets on to many victories. Their final effort was well rewarded when they followed the Hornet Basketball team to the Class "C" Championship.

The cheerleaders have succeeded in their own right as well as in lending moral support to the Hornets. They were the hostesses of the first cheerleading competition held at Mansfield High School. They entered one competition and won a trophy. They hope to enter more competitions and they are sure to come back with a trophy from each.

Hoop Highlights

The 1958-59 Green Hornet Basketball team finished its season in a glorious manner by defeating a very fine team, St. Joseph's of Lowell, in overtime, 69-63. By winning this game, the Hornets climaxed a four game winning streak to gain the honor of Class "C" Champs in the Bay State Tournament. Other teams defeated in this tournament by the Hornets were:

Lawrence High School (of Falmouth)	71-43
Sharon	63-55
King Philip	65-49

In regular Hockamock League play, the Hornets ended up with a 10-8 record, two of the games being lost only by one point. Because of lack of experience, the Hornets didn't play up to their ability as a team. Fortunately they pulled out of their slump, and reached the semi-finals of the South Shore Tournament after beating Silver Lake, a highly favored team. It took powerful, pressing Wareham to finally defeat the Hornets in a thrilling game (71-69).

All in all it was a tremendous season for Coach Sullivan and his Hornets, as they ended up with a 16-13 record. There were many outstanding players on the team and during the season three scoring records were broken.

Captain Geoff Stearns, one of the all-time greats, set a new record of points scored in one season. He ended his senior year with 552 points, giving him a total of 1057 for three years.

Ronnie Sankey set a junior scoring record with 356 points, and Ronnie Gentile set a freshman scoring record with 242 points.

Dave Collingwood climbed onto the list of all-time scorers with 250 points. John Antosca, although not a high scorer, was a necessary element to the Hornets offense and defense. His ability to pass and steal the ball aided the Green Hornets to many victories. Wally Gordon and Gordon Corey, though not starters, sparked many of the Hornet games.

Baseball

The 1959 Green Hornet baseball team is looking forward to a fine season. The team will have many veterans returning to the team who will be supplemented by some fine freshman and sophomore prospects.

The season this year will be extra long, due to the fact that more teams have been added to the Hockamock League. We are all hoping that our team will come out on top.

Track

The Green Hornet cinder squad has worked under adverse conditions for the past several years. Coach Parsons has worked untiringly with the track team and we hope that this year the results will be more apparent.

Good luck to the hard-working track team this year.

The girls' Varsity Basketball team was quite experienced, but their height was against them all the way. The quick thinking and fast shooting team won five of their eleven games, and two were lost by only a few points. The high scorers Mary Lou Mei and Nat Brown were the Co-Captains of the team and they were coached by Alice Mahoney.

Our JV's were very victorious and played with great spirit. These future varsity stars are really on their way to fame at Mansfield High School.

Softball

The inspiring school spirit of the Mansfield Hornettes and their Co-Captains Janie Ward and Doreen Albertini lead them to fight more rigidly at each game. The games included:

Stoughton
Westwood
Foxboro
North Attleboro
Oliver Ames'
Sharon

With their great coaching from Miss Mahoney, they will continue to fight harder when this 1959 season begins.

The Softball team includes: Co-Captains Doreen Albertini, and Janie Ward, P. Winton, J. Delliacono, R. Farinella, E. Nordberg, A. Young, N. Jackson, M. Gasson, M. Canty, D. Liberatore, B. Balch, B. Rodrick, and coached by Miss Alice Mahoney.

Field Hockey
